FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ERC DATAPLUS PARTNERS WITH ACCIO DATA TO DELIVER ATS SERVICES TO THEIR BUSINESS PARTNERS

A Fully Integrated Applicant Tracking and Background Checking System Available June 1, 2008

Norwalk, CT. --- (March 27, 2008) --- ERC Dataplus, Inc., a leading provider of recruiting software solutions, announced today that it has established an integration alliance with Accio Data, a leading technology solutions provider to the background investigations industry. The alliance will integrate ERC's applicant tracking software, Selectech® Workforce Management, with Accio Data's screening platform.

The solution created will give the background screening companies using Accio Data's technology platform the ability to offer their customers a private-branded (White-Label) integrated talent management and background screening solution without any additional client cost for the integration. This solution will meet the needs of human resource professionals and hiring managers at companies both large and small, providing them with a single platform for pre-qualifying, assessing, appointment scheduling, on-boarding, and background screening.

In addition, the integrated solution is being offered to Accio Data's business partners with their own branding, addressing what many of them have been seeking - an avenue for attracting new clients, growing their business with new sources of revenue, increasing their share of background checks, and improving their overall competitive position.

With Selectech Workforce Management, the entire recruiting process from requisition approval through offer letters and on-boarding will take place directly from the recruiters desktop. The integrated solution, which also includes Selectech Pre-hire Assessments, improves the recruiter's ability to identify the best candidates and reach them more quickly, giving users of this system a competitive edge in the hiring of new employees. The efficiencies and productivity gains will more than pay the cost of the applicant tracking system. Applicant information from Selectech Workforce Management can be automatically sent to Accio Data's background screening business partners for processing of background checks and clients will be automatically notified when reports are available for review.

"We are delighted to have been selected by Accio Data to deliver an integrated talent management system to the companies that utilize their background screening services," said Vice President - Business Development for ERC Dataplus, Carla Knoll. "This alliance will be beneficial for both of our respective organizations by broadening the base to which ERC's products will be implemented and for Accio Data and their customers to have an opportunity to address a set of business requirements with an integrated solution that they previously could not," she added.

Barry Boes, President of Accio Data said, "We are continually looking to create a partnership with leading solution providers to further enhance our client's competitive advantage. Selecting ERC Dataplus as a partner was an easy choice since they share our same commitment to providing superior products along with excellent customer service. Integrating their Selectech Workforce Management system with our platform of products becomes a perfect solution for our background screening company to offer to their customers who are seeking an easy-to-use and easy-to-learn applicant tracking system that is extremely competitive both from a cost and function standpoint."
