FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ERC DATAPLUS INTRODUCES LEGAL HELP LINE FOR ITS CLIENTS

National law firm to answer general employment law questions for HR professionals

Norwalk, CT. --- (July 6, 2004) --- ERC Dataplus, Inc., a leading Human Resource technology company, today announced the introduction of a Legal Help Line for those clients using its Selectech® Candidate Management System. ERC has retained the services of Jackson Lewis LLP, a national law firm specializing in representing management in the areas of employment, labor, benefits and immigration to answer the inquiries.

Through the Selectech CMS Internet-based administration system, human resource recruiters, administrators and hiring managers can obtain answers to general employment laws matters in areas such as recruiting and selection, background checking, drug testing, and employee leaves of absence. An authorized Selectech CMS user can simply click on the Legal Help Line link directly from the initial administration screen, fill out the brief inquiry form and click submit. The form will automatically be sent to Jackson Lewis, where it will be reviewed and answered, typically within 24 hours.

The Help Line is not a substitute for the retention of legal counsel to obtain ongoing legal advice on specific problems, such as adverse personnel actions. Rather, it is designed to provide quick answers to basic questions. Inquiries that may require extensive research, review of personnel documentation or preparation of personnel policies/forms are beyond the scope of the Help Line service. Use of the Help Line service does not create an attorney-client relationship between Jackson Lewis and the user.

"We have had a relationship with Jackson Lewis for the past year distributing key articles and advisories addressing timely and relevant workplace issues," states Paul Rathblott, CEO for ERC Dataplus. "Providing access to the Legal Help Line for our Selectech CMS clients is another example of our continued focus on providing our clients with significant value add along with best practices," continued Rathblott.
